Lutheran Church Has Big Picnic

The crowd, which gathered in the grove of the old Wm. Kehe farm to celebrate the picnic of St. Peter's Lutheran church, was perhaps the largest ever present at such an event within the congregation. Everything developed nicely to make the picnic a success. The weather was ideal, the crowd in good humor and the committee consisting of Wm. Bendien, Chris Schoenbeck and Mayor Flentie had done its work well.

The children of the six upper grades presented colorful and impressive flag drill accompanied by the Northwest band. Mr. Kranz's class offered a number of pantomime songs which were well received.

There were plenty of races, contests, games and free lemonade to keep the interest of the kiddies. Due to the warm weather the ice cream and pop was practically sold out. The older folks enjoyed themselves sitting under the shady trees chatting on pleasant subjects, and listening to the snappy music of Mr. Landeck's band. It grieves us to state however, that the single men trimmed the married fellows in the baseball game, well the score had better remain unpublished.

In short it was a big day and our school festival committee deserves to be congratulated on the successful arrangements.

Arlington Heights had two celebrations Wednesday. While the big event was taking place at the school house, a horse show consisting of fancy riding and hurdles was being conducted at Stonegate by the Lauderhill organization for their prospective customers.

Those Trees

The cutting of the trees that are standing in the path of the widened Northwest highway is inevitable. If it is not done at this time, it will be done within the next five years. The Herald believes that there is not a citizen in Arlington Heights who does not hate to see any of those trees touched. It is as natural for citizens to rise up in their defense as it is for a man to want to protect his own property. Those trees have been with us so long we all consider them a part of Arlington Heights and the man who is ready to fight in their defense is within his rights.

However, it is also inevitable that the Northwest Highway must be widened. The mistake, if it was a mistake, was made when the highway was originally given its present location.

Today a decision must be made on how that highway is to be widened. Any mistake that is made today will be a mistake always. The only real question at issue is the right location of the widened highway—whether or not that street is to be only a thru traffic lane or one to be also used as an access to the Arlington Heights business district.

The Herald believes that it is in that business will take the place of the homes.

There is probably not a "saver of trees" in Arlington Heights who would be willing to have his residence upon that avenue of trees. He knows that it has ceased to be a residential street. It is inevitable that business will usurp the homes.

Instead of becoming angry with each other and flinging hard words against our neighbors, the Herald suggests that both sides get together and solve the question in a business and good neighborly way upon the following basis:

First let the state highway engineers fix the best right of way for the widened highway, from an engineering standpoint with the provision that as far as possible trees are not to be needlessly sacrificed.

Second. All parties agree that they will get behind any movement that is originated by the park board for a village park.

Any other solution of the plan will mean a continual controversy. The setting of the right-of-way of the three blocks thru the park does not settle the right-of-way plans for the four blocks further north. There are also innumerable trees there. If those four blocks are to remain residence property only, those property owners should be so notified now.

The Herald fails to see anything that is to be gained by going to court, by holding special elections or by quibbling over this improvement. There is only one way to settle it and that is the right way and we believe that Arlington Heights business men and the residents who are business men elsewhere have sufficient acumen to reach an agreement, and not enter into a useless "war."

While we have always maintained the freedom of the press, in behalf of Arlington Heights itself, further contributions upon this subject must be confined to the discussion of the plan as presented to the village board. No reference to motives back of the adherents on either side will be permitted.

Foley Buys Home On North State Road

Ed. Foley, proprietor of the Foley barber shop and beauty parlor is going to move to the north side of town. He has resided on South State Road a long time. His new address as soon as he secures occupancy will be 307 N. State Road, the Heidorn house, of which G. R. Wolff was the tenant.

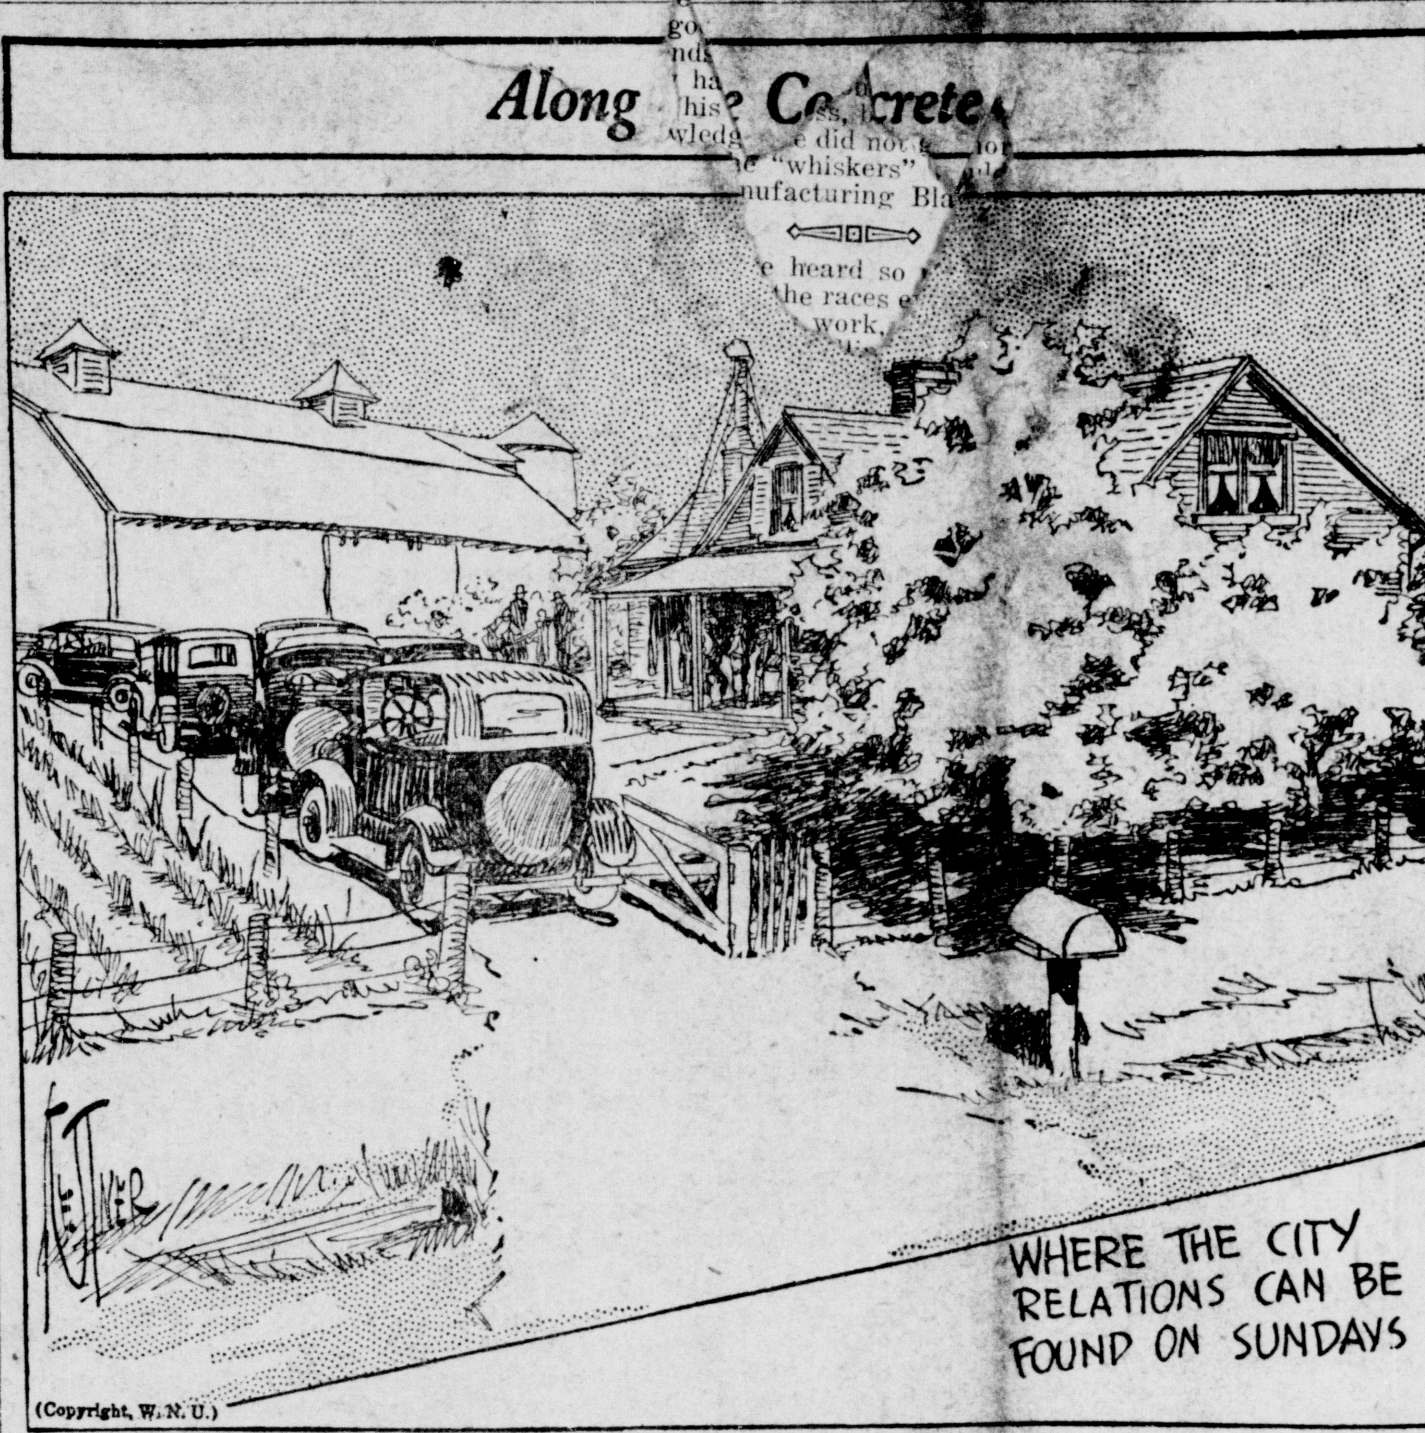

Sudden Rain Storm Floods Many Homes

The heavy rain storm or more rather deluge that occurred early Tuesday morning caused the flooding of many basements in the southern part of Arlington Heights. There were also houses on the north side that did not escape the water. However, in the majority of cases the water soon drained off. This basement flooding makes the general public all the more anxious for the completion of the sewer plans.

V. F. W. Auxiliary Treat Veterans At Elgin State Hospital

Last Tuesday the Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign War treated the shell shocked veterans in Wards 1, 2 and 3, of the Elgin State Hospital to ice cream, cake and coffee, and as usual the men of the post sent cigarettes. Those outside of the organization, who donated cakes, were: Mrs. Kumpf, Mrs. Chas. Moellering, Mrs. Ed. Dieball, Mrs. Phillip Meyer, Mrs. August Goeddel and Mrs. Nick Goisan. The ladies took with them some geographic magazines donated by Mr. Cuny. Miss Irene Horcher drove her car, taking with her, Miss Elizabeth Horcher, Miss Ruth Hefferen and the president of the organization, Mrs. Ed. Foley.

Mrs. D. R. Hitchcock is still nursing bruises she received when she fell over an iron stake that "fences" off the railroad park from Davis street at Dunton. As she was preparing to cross Davis an auto suddenly turned and when she endeavored to get out of the car's path, she fell upon the stake.

Jessie Pate Bride Of W. McConagha

Miss Jessie Mae Pate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Pate of Arlington Heights, became the bride of Mr. William McConagha in a pretty home wedding at the home of the bride's parents, Saturday afternoon, June 30.

The wedding was simple, yet beautiful. There were no attendants, but flower bedecked rooms including a bower of ferns, palms and syringa, an ideal setting for the event. The guests were only a few family friends and relatives, numbering sixty in all. Rev. H. S. Jenkinson, former pastor of the Arlington Heights Presbyterian church, officiated.

The wedding might be called a college occasion, as among the guests were a number of college classmates of both the bride and groom. Before the ceremony and during the reception violin music was played by Mr. Chas. Tesser of Park Ridge, accompanied by his sister. Two solos were sung by Mrs. Nellie Kirchner of Chicago, who was a classmate at Knox college of the bride. The wedding march was also played by a classmate, Mrs. Marjorie Hellenaga of Three Oaks, Michigan.

Classmates of the groom, who were present were four: O. Westers, A. E. Patton, J. F. Bell and R. W. Valentine, all of whom have received their doctor's degree from Illinois. The faculty of Lawrence College was represented by Mr. A. D. Powers and Miss Florence Stouder.

Miss Mable McConagha, sister of the groom came from New Concord, Ohio, for the wedding. Other guests from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Hunter of Champaign, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Kidd, Frank and Miss Ida Kidd of Mendota; W. H. Pate and family of Austin, Rev. and Mrs. H. S. Jenkinson, Misses Edith and Jennie Jenkinson of Beverly Hills.

Soon after the ceremony the bridal party left for New York and Concord, Ohio, where they visited Mr. Canagha's parents.

They will sail Saturday from New York for France and Germany, where they expect to visit familiar scenes to both Mr. and Mrs. Canagha. Mr. Canagha was an overseas man and spent a year with the army of occupation in Germany. The bride, following her graduation from Knox college spent a year studying at St. Germain, Eclayre, Paris. Upon her return home, Mrs. Canagha took a post graduate course at Chicago University, where she received her Master's Degree. Since that time she has been an instructor in French at Lawrence College, Appleton, Wis.

Mrs. Canagha has always lived in Arlington Heights except when absent at school work. She has a great many friends, especially in the Presbyterian church circles, where she was more or less prominent with her father and mother who have worked so untiringly for so many years. Since her graduation from our local high school she has been away from her home a great deal. She has the heartiest congratulations of her Arlington Heights friends.

Mr. Canagha is a stranger to the acquaintances of the bride. He is a graduate of Illinois, from which he recently received his doctor's degree. Mr. and Mrs. McConagha will return to United States in September, making their home at Appleton, Wis. That home will be graced with many beautiful and useful wedding gifts that included those things that are always so dear to the heart of a bride.

An especially fine silver set was the gift from associates at Lawrence college.

The church entering politics as such is one thing, (to be deplored), the church standing for moral principles is another. God pity America when the church, Protestant, Catholic and Jewish, fails to take any interest in national morals, and national ethics. The forces of evil are mighty active in politics, its about time that the one organization whose supreme and only objective is the welfare of man's spiritual nature counteracted that influence.

One day, a subscriber to this paper was out fishing. During the day a rainstorm came on. In order to keep dry he crawled into a hollow log. When the rain began to fall the log began to swell, until he could get neither way. He thought his end had come. He thought of all the wrongs he had done and when he recalled that he had not sent a subscription to this paper this year, he felt so small that he crawled right out of the log with up—difficult. That reminds us of a story. Pat was riding on a street car and smoking a well seasoned pipe. A woman came in and sat near him and said: "If ye was a gentleman yed put out that pipe." He retorted: "If ye wuz a lady yed move farther away." "If ye was a husband," retorted the lady, "I'd give ye poison." "If ye were my woman," came back the reply, "I'd take it."

LOUIS ROEHLER BUSINESS MAN DIES SUDDENLY

Arlington Heights business district was shocked to learn Tuesday that Mr. Louis Roeher, prominent local business man had passed away suddenly after an illness of only two hours. The cause of death was a paralytic stroke that occurred about seven o'clock. He had lost consciousness and passed away at nine o'clock without regaining his faculties. He died suddenly, but easily, in his home on N. Dunton street in the presence of his daughter, Mrs. Elmo Williams, with whom he had lived since the death of his beloved wife.

Mr. Roeher has not been in very good health ever since the death of his wife a year ago. He has been feeling somewhat improved lately and when he retired Monday evening, there was no reason to believe that death was near. He awoke his daughter the next morning asking for assistance. A moment later, he called to her that he thought he was dying, as he had lost all feeling in parts of his body. Dr. Best was called at once, and although he was unconscious, every means, was used to restore him but to no avail.

Mr. Roeher has been prominent in many ways in Arlington Heights and northern Cook county. He had been engaged in the automobile trade twice and was among the first of such firms in Arlington Heights. He served two terms as deputy sheriff and had a large acquaintance.

Mr. Roeher was born in Elk Grove on his father's farm April 2, 1875. He attended the Lutheran school there and was also confirmed in the Lutheran church of which he remained a member till his death. After his marriage to his deceased wife, Catherine, nee Behrens, he moved to Arlington Heights, where he engaged in various business enterprises, culminating in the ownership of the present garage and sales agency on Evergreen road and Eastman.

Mr. Roeher was respected by all with whom he came in contact for his integrity of character, his willingness to serve, and his loyalty to friends. Arlington Heights has lost an efficient business man and a good citizen, who was always loyal to the best interests of the community.

The funeral is being conducted today from his late home on Dunton and Eastman by Pastors Fricke and Noack, of the Lutheran church. Mr. W. F. Karstens, having charge of the burial arrangements.

He leaves to mourn his loss two sisters, Miss Louise Roeher and Mrs. Dora Curtis, two children, Mrs. Gertrude Williams and Mrs. Helen Scherzer and other relatives.

L. N. Wells Winner of Nation Sales Contest

Mr. L. N. Wells of Arlington Heights recently received a check for $400 from the General Electric Company, as winner of two first prizes in the Tungar Sales Campaign.

For the benefit of those who know little about radios, we will state that Tungar is a battery charger manufactured by the above company and distributed thru 105 General Electric agencies. There are probably 5,000 salesmen who were eligible to enter the campaign, for which $100 first prize was offered in each division of the country and a grand prize of $300 for the winner of the national contest.

Mr. Wells won the central division and the national. The latter was a surprise to him. He was working hard for the prize offered to the central division and his efforts brought to him national honors. The contest started on January 23rd and ended March 31.

A photograph of the prize check and of Mr. Wells appears in a current issue of Jobber Salesman which is on sale at the news stands this week and gives a more detailed report of Mr. Wells' achievement. The latter is manager of the Tungar Sales for the Central States General Electric Supply Co.

In promoting the sales of Tungar through his company, Mr. Wells sent the following circular to his salesmen. While it was written to apply to this particular campaign, it is applicable to every man.

It's All in the State of Mind

If you think you are beaten, you are;

If you think you can't sell Tungars, you don't;

If you think you'd like to win the Tungar prize—but you can't.

It's almost a "cinch" you won't!

If you think you'll lose, you've lost;

For out in the world you'll find—

Success begins with a fellow's will.

It's all in the state of mind.

Full many a campaign is lost—ere even a campaign is run, And many a coward fails, ere even his work is begun—

Think BIG and your deeds will grow, think SMALL and you'll fall behind.

Think that you can and you will; it's all in the state of the mind.

If you think you're outclassed, you are;

You've got to think high to rise;

You've got to be sure of yourself before

You ever can win this Prize.

THANK YOU

In behalf of the Arlington Heights Lions Club, I want to express the thanks of the organization to the members of the Arlington Heights Business Men's Association, the Municipal Band, and others who assisted to make the Fourth of July celebration a success. I also want to thank the general public for their cooperation. We were greatly handicapped by the weather and our fireworks display was partly spoiled, but the good nature of the crowd more than made up for such disappointments.

H. J. BYRD, President.

Boy Scout Troop Seven Makes Good Showing In June

Take off your hats folks and lets give a bunch of rousing cheers for the working scouts in troop No. 7.

Last month's rating shows our boys with a fine score of 92, a gain of 22 points over the preceding month, and the first honor star has been received for our colors.

And that isn't all, for the 37 in attendance at Monday's meeting, have vowed to make the receipt of a troop honor star a regular monthly occurrence instead of an event.

Get behind 'em parents and let them grasp all there is for them in scouting.

That requires regular attendance at troop meetings on Monday nights, real patrol meetings with their bunch attendance on monthly overnight hikes and study for advancement.

Camp during the summer at one of the real scout camps, gives opportunities for meeting other scouts after the same ideals and present advancements in their real lights, out of doors in fields, in woods, on streams, on lakes, in fact just where all boys most long to be. And the cost actually less than it costs to stoke one of our peppy, or to the minute furnaces in the shape of a real boy.

Some of our members are now making good at Indian Mound, others are registered for the 5th period August 20 to Sept. 2. And what interesting things the boys will have to talk about and live over during the fall, winter and spring preceding next camp time.

Then there's another phase of scouting that will be handed out for your boy to digest. That of helping others doing a daily good turn. You can't do such things and be selfish or self centered.

Our troop stands ready at all times to lend a helping hand or hands as each case may require.

Some one not long ago said that the understanding that scouts are supposed to do anything, any time, anywhere. That's not entirely true and a word of explanation may be required.

Our troop can not take sides on any question foreign to scouting. We do not accept reimbursements for services, but wherever we are called upon and serve will do the job as it should be done.

On Memorial Day, Independence Day or any holiday the troop will serve as a unit, if called upon. No request was received this year by the scoutmaster, except for Memorial Day and that request was properly answered by the presence of two troops.

Except in emergencies, sufficient time should be permitted after the requests for the notification of all scouts at a regular meeting. And then allowance made for consideration by parents of the scouts.

July 12th the members of Troop No. 7 will act as messengers and guides at the Banquet under the supervision of the troop officers.

This will be our first troop good turn for 1928, so get your uniform in shape and turn out to do your bit.

Transportation and food will be furnished.

And don't forget that our aim all along the line is bigger and better scouting.

Bigger, because you are in it. Better, because of what you are going to do.

Let's go.

Tunnel Mile Long Being Constructed

A tunnel, 22 feet wide by 14 feet high, and a mile long with six gallery portals scattered along the way, which afford stopping places where the automobilist may draw aside from the traffic and view the stupendous scenery, is under construction in Zion National Park, where the Zion Mount Carmel road undertakes to make a rise of 3,000 feet up the sides of a mountain, says a bulletin issued by the touring bureau of the Chicago Motor Club. This tunnel is driven through sheer rock, and is going forward at the rate of about 900 feet a month. Some of the galleries are 75 feet or more in length, and the arched openings will be 35 feet high. It is said that there are few places in the United States where the scenery is more impressive than from these giant portals that look out across the mammoth canyon some two or three thousand feet above the little Pine Creek, which hurries anxiously along the canyon bed.

Something of the ruggedness of this territory can be guessed when it is known that the little town of Bryce is about 54 miles from this project as the crow flies, but that it is 159 miles by highway. And Cedar Breaks is only about 30 miles straight north, but as motorists must travel it is 140 miles distant.

ARLINGTON CELEBRATES THE FOURTH

The Arlington Heights 1928 Fourth of July celebration is history. The weather man tried his best to drown out the enthusiasm of the Lions but he was not successful. He did succeed in dampening some of the powder used in the fireworks to such an extent that the ground display had to be fired prematurely and some of it was too wet to use. The aerial bombs could not be touched by the rain and they later in the evening shot defiance up in the sky.

It was a great day and the members of the Lions club have no regrets. There may be a financial loss, but the club is not the kind that will worry over that.

The entire program was conducted as advertised. Popular as were the attractions, the one that probably excited the greatest interest in an adjoining field, where the spectators had full view of the descent.

Clifford Condit used the same plane that Judge Byrd uses in his student flights. All the stunts known in aeranautics were attempted by the pilot. Many were the gasps that were heard by the spectators when some stunt more daring than the rest was attempted. The parachute jump was properly timed and William Bollinger alighted in an adjoining field, where the spectators had full view of the descent.

The municipal band deserve great credit. The members had given up personal pleasures for the day that they might do their share in the celebration. They were liberal with their music and received hearty applause.

It was the job of President Byrd to introduce the speakers, which he did very well. The attention paid to the talks was evidence that the great American people are not so busy that they have no time to listen to an old-fashioned Fourth of July program. Mayor Flentie gave a historic talk, stating that as victory always has come to the United States so this country was always right.

Mayor Stewart of Des Plaines spoke at length upon the constitution, giving some interesting statistics, and bringing to the attention of his hearers that it is the duty of every loyal American to vote at the election and to vote for the right class of candidates.

Commissioner William Busse gave some reminiscences of earlier days. Of course, it would not be our friend William Busse talking if he did not say a few words about good roads. He closed by congratulating the Lions club upon their endeavors and endorsing the words of Mayor Stewart for a better and cleaner government. This part of the program closed with a few words of appreciation by President Byrd.

The baseball game between the Booster club and the colored All Stars of Chicago was exciting and ended with a score of 7 to 5 in favor of the home team.

Three clowns created no end of fun for the youngsters and the older ones during the afternoon. They were professionals and there appeared to be nothing they would not think of.

The dance was attended by three hundred couples, probably the largest crowd that ever danced on the gym floor. Chairman Fred Miltzer had charge of this part of the program and expects to be able to turn over net receipts totaling no small amount.

In speaking about the fireworks, we are not making any excuses, except to say that the set pieces have to be put in place in the afternoon. When the sudden shower came up, there was nothing to do but set them off before they would be ruined.

The red hot stand did a bigger business than the soft drink and ice cream division and the boys behind the counter served them raw nearly as often as properly cooked. The crowd did not seem to mind. They had had a great day and went home happy.

Appointed Medical Director of Institute

Dr. Julius B. Novak has recently been appointed Medical Director of the Chicago Tuberculosis Institute.

He is replacing Dr. H. H. Bay, who resigned to enter the medical department of an insurance company.

Dr. Bay was the Christmas seal clinician in Cook county for over five years. He was very popular and will be greatly missed.

We welcome Dr. Novak, however, and wish him equal success. He is a young man, and has had excellent training for his new position.

He graduated at the Medill high school in Chicago and after seven years at the University of Illinois, he graduated in medicine. He has had hospital practice and special training in tuberculosis in three hospitals, including a year as resident in the Cook county hospital.

Dr. Novak began his new work on Monday, July 2, in charge of the health clinic of the Berwyn center. He will make chest examinations once a month or oftener at each of the 18 health centers in Cook county.

W. H. Meyer Returns From the East

Walter H. Meyer, son of Rev. W. Meyer returned last Saturday from seventeen days tour of the East with the Elmhurst College Glee club of Elmhurst, Ill.

The club sang twelve full concerts at Cleveland, Buffalo, Hornell and Elmira, N. Y., New York City, Irvington and Trenton, N. J., Baltimore, Washington, D. C., Williamsport and Pittsburg, Pa., and Strassburg, Ohio. Besides the concerts, the club sang at hospitals, reformatories and church services.

The club visited many scenic and historical spots of interest along the way. Among them being, Niagara Falls, Watkins Glen, Home of Mark Twain, Cumberland Water Gap. A tour of New York City, including Grants tomb, Columbia University, Union Theological Seminary, five large cathedrals, Washington memorial park on the Delaware river at Trenton, Princeton University, Valley Forge Park. A tour of Washington, D. C., including the monument, White House, and Arlington national cemetery, and the home and tomb of Washington at Mt. Vernon.

The Club was led by Dean John Minnema of the school of Music Department of the College. The Club carried two ladies on their tour, Maude Boslough, soloist, and Eva Marion Woodchick reader.

This was the first extensive tour of the glee club, and was a real success as well as an education.

Slaves Expert Workmen

During the slave period most of the South's skilled mechanical work was done by negro artisans. The fine old southern mansions were the product of negro carpenters. Machine shops, gins, smithies, and even the railroads were in a large measure manned by negro slaves. They were such damn't many were able to hire themselves out and thus purchase their freedom.

Keltic Cross Symbol

Keltic crosses are such as were found on the Blessed Isle, one of the Hebrides group known as Iona. Some authorities believe that the circular symbol, which appears at the connection of the upright beam and the cross-beam, is the sign of the sun.

BEST STORIES OF THE WEEK

Judge Byrd has a girl. At least we have found one who claims she is the one and only of this popular bachelor. She is none other than Paddy McBride, five year old daughter of Mrs. McBride, stenographer at the office of the judge. Perhaps the judge does not know until he reads this that his affections are under mortgage.

There is only one kind of "plant" in the mind of Otto Heimann. He heard a representative of the Public Service Co. state that a gas plant often cures cases of cold. Otto had a cold and the other day asked if he could see the plant because he wanted to smell it. Do you get that one or is it over your head?

Nick Weber is granddad. The little grand son arrived in the home of Orville M. Baldwin one day last week. Nick felt like going out and painting the town red, but when he looked for the paint he found he had sold out. A perfectly good celebration spoiled said Nick. "If I had only been prepared."

"Skin Games" Out Of County Fairs

"Fumigated, passed by the Board of Censorship," midways will greet the fair goers this year. A strict set of rules laid down by the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture regarding games at fairs may make you think you are attending a revival meeting—no, not quite that bad.

Did you ever try to put three balls in a bucket? Well, it can't be done—that is if it is a fixed bucket. The fixed bucket is supplied with a double bottom, the lower of which may be slightly lowered if desired. When the two bottoms are pressed together, the bottom of the bucket is so firm that any ball striking it will bounce out of the bucket.

The spot game is "gaff" by stretching the oil cloth upon which the red spot is painted, making it too large to be covered by the disks. And did you ever try the swinging ball and ten-pin game? Everything seems fair enough and the player is induced to take a chance. He takes careful aim and swings the ball and swings the ball with a deftness imitative of the operator, but the ball on its return swing misses the ten-pin by a fraction of an inch. This is accomplished by a shifting of the frame. These games and a few others controlled by the operator have been ruled out.

The following games will be permitted:

1. Corn Games operated with darts or baseballs.

2. Nail Driving Games.

3. High Strikers.

4. Weighing Scales.

5. Knife or Cane Racks operated with legitimate rings and where the rings encircle the object played for. This does not include the so-called "Hoopla" game.

6. Any game for amusement only, where no cash or merchandise prizes are offered, such as the African Dodger, Walking Charlie, Mechanical Shooting Galleries, etc.

Village Board In Stormy Session

The meeting of the Palatine village board Monday evening was one of the stormiest meetings in years. A big delegation of property owners was present to protest against being annexed to the village and at times the discussion became loud and vociferous.

A vote on the granting of a soft drink license with the result of the Mayor in casting the deciding vote was another one of the high lights of the meeting.

A mass of detail business was transacted as shown by the official minutes one of the most important actions being the rejection of all bids on the new pumping station and administration building and the decision to re-advertise for new bids returnable on Monday evening, July 23. A change has been made from vapor to steam heat and alternative bids on roofing will be received.

The contract for the erection of the new 100,000 gallon standpipe and the wrecking of the old standpipe was awarded to the Chicago Bridge & Iron Co., at their bid of $9,350.00.

A new pump contract was also let Monday evening. The Layne Bowler Co. awarded the contract for a pump at their bid of $2,400.00, the official minutes showing all the details.

What the authorities have been hearing complaints ever since Roper took over the establishment of Herman Dickman at Bothwell and Slade St. When Roper moved to his present location there was a battle in the Village Board on the granting of the transfer of his license but the transfer was at last granted by a four to two vote.

Trustees Kruse and Zoellick at that time voted against transfer. At the meeting Monday night when the question of license for Roper came up the matter was temporarily passed until all other applications had been disposed of. The Roper license was then again considered and Mr. Kruse moved to reject the license. This motion failed by a four to two vote.

Big Annexation Halted Property Owners Protest

The big annexation program of the Village of Palatine which called for the annexation of about 1000 acres struck a sudden snag at the Board meeting Monday night when the Annexation Ordinance was presented. Although the annexation plan had been endorsed by the county court following a court hearing at which no objectors appeared, a large number of property owners led by Fred Gusseville, Mr. Freeman and Mr. Lecht appeared before the board Monday evening and protested the passage of the ordinance as they did not wish to see their farm land within the village limits.

Mr. R. Remus made a powerful appeal on behalf of Mr. Freeman and Mr. Gusseville citing the low price of farm products as compared with the high cost of local improvements and higher taxes and asked the board to hold off the annexation until such time as these gentlemen had sold their farms and some subdivided to have property annexed. Many other property owners owning land within the limits of the proposed annexation also protested against the passage of the ordinance, saying that they had had no notification of the court hearing and had not seen it advertised and knew nothing about it.

The representations of the objectors were so strong and so ably presented that sentiment of the board members as expressed in the discussion began to crystallize against the annexation, although a majority of the property owners and residents in the affected territory had signed a petition asking that the territory be annexed. After a lengthy and at times somewhat heated discussion the board voted to refer all action for one week. They agreed with the objectors to leave out a great deal of the territory in the original plan and they will next meet Monday night to decide on the revised boundaries of the territory to be annexed if any. From the present indications both sides which were included in the original plan will be excluded from the new one. Why the board should have gone to the trouble and expense of going through the annexation program up to the point of the passage of the ordinance if they were going to fall apart and drop the matter at the final moment is hard to understand. There appeared to be a decided lack of definite understanding between the property owners and board and between the board members themselves as to what it was all about and if some agreement cannot be reached between all parties concerned the entire annexation issue might as well be dropped and forgotten or a new plan worked out taking into the village a small amount of territory immediately adjacent to the Village which really desires to come into the village because of the benefits to be derived therefrom. The big subdividers have signified their intention of not desiring to proceed at this time with any further improvement so that there is no immediate need on their part for additional annexation.

The property owners who were present and voiced their objections should have only the friendliest feeling for the board for their objections were listened to and concurred to by the board in a manner that was surprising considering that the annexation plan had proceeded so far before the objections were voiced. That the property owners appreciated their treatment at the hands of the Board was shown by the manner in which they all expressed their appreciation to the Board for the consideration shown them.

Monday night will see the Board session again and new boundaries established for the territory proposed to be annexed.

To Refinish Blackboard

Paint the board with ordinary black paint such as will dry with a gloss; then apply a coat of black paint, mixed with turps instead of oil, which will dry a dead black.

Viking Fortifications
In the Isle of Skye, which was not restored to Scotland until 1296, are a number of ancient round forts presumed to have been built by the Vikings who took possession of the Isle in the Ninth century.

Historic Congress
The first congress presided over by the President of the United States was held in New York on May 1, 1790. It was in this first congress that the tariff law was made, providing a tax on foreign imports to raise money.

Old Man's Privilege
A woman I highly esteem scolds me because she believes I criticize women too much. At seventy-four a man does not admire the ladies as he did at twenty, thirty or forty, and somewhat at fifty and sixty. An elderly man is entitled to a good deal of charity in his vapors; the mistake is made in admitting him to your presence.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

Arlington Bootery

Arlington Heights, Ill.

They called her a soulless "gold-digger" but...

Do you remember the sensational breach of promise suit, a few years ago, by a humble flower-girl against her young millionaire lover and his wealthy mother? At the trial many ugly charges were hurled at the girl. She was called a "gold-digger," a blackmailer; a shameless creature who loved only money and the luxury money could buy.

But when, in a voice broken by sobs, she told her pitiful story, men hardened to sorrow wiped their eyes furtively—women in the court-room wept aloud.

Then came that dramatic and unlooked-for conclusion. An unexpected witness was called to the stand—and in ten words hurled into the tense

OBSERVER'S NOTES

The tumult and the shouting cease,
And so today, here, in our town,
To view the glory that was Greece,
All disarranged we settle down,
Where we left off, take up the thread,
And dig in for our daily bread.

The Fourth? What follows?
Why the 5th of course. So, on through July we go, not one bit longing for that 13th month "Julius" or whatever they proposed to call it. Twelve months are enough to buy coal, and fly screen for. The house numbers are here, but many have pulled the latch string inside and hid the key under the door mat.
Off for vacation. May they find rest and refreshing in the change. Everybody needs a vacation. Even the creatures of the field seek the quiet shade at noonday, and Behemoth, the great water ox Job tells about "lieth under the shady trees in the covert of reeds and ferns; the shady trees cover him with their shadow, the willows of the brook compass him about."

If you are not familiar with Job's wonderful description of this prehistoric creature, get out your Bible, turn to the 40th chapter of the book of Job and read: They find his fossil remains today you see in the great rivers and surely the mountains bring him food where all the beasts of the field play. The fossil remains are often seen in museums, a wonderful creature.

What I brought Behemoth in here for, is to prove all created things, even this greatest of all the beasts, sought the covert of the reed and ferns, the shadow of the trees, by the side of the brooks. Ah, me, if we could all realize the cooling effect of a brook, a river or lake, we would tap this underground stream, that in many places bursts out in springs and have a real lake.

Call it artificial, if you will, the water is here and would flow in torrents into a walled-in lake, with trees to make shadow and reeds and ferns to furnish bank. I trust our park promoters will bear this in mind. No smooth lawn and laid out walks can make a pleasure ground so enjoyable as a cool stream or lake, and nothing on earth children, so much enjoy. It can be stocked with fish and will afford swimming and bathing for old and young.

Little brother was to cut the lawn grass for a consideration. As Scott made one of his funny old "got-yards" say: Well little brother got tired and it seemed a big space to cut when his sister took hold and gave him a helping hand. Fine exercise, just as good for their muscles as gymnasium could give and all out in the open, with fresh air to breathe and the blue sky over head. A pretty sight, it was, to see them.

Something just splendid took place in Arlington Heights this week. Yes, along the streets and in the unkempt places, went John H. Umbach, our faithful knight of industry, with his good strong team cutting and laying low the high weeds, the low weeds and the noxious weeds, making unlovely or otherwise beautiful town. Good for John. Ever since he trotted his little sister out to Sunday school, years ago, John has been active in good works.

One of our towns women, who returned recently from visiting her mother in southern Wisconsin, says the meadows and hay fields were covered with water, so they could not mow the hay. They have had too much rain for the farmers in many localities. Yet, here it does seem to make the corn grow.

Talk about Americanizing our friends who come to us from foreign shores. Do you realize that outside our public schools, there is no factor so potent in Americanization, as the home? When a family comes to us from a land where there was no hope of ever owning his own home, and finds in America, by hard, honest labor and thrift, he can secure a home for himself and family.

His children learn about our country at its wonderful advantages in school. He takes a pride in his home, plants trees, cultivates a garden, and soon becomes a loyal self-respecting citizen. I see them every day, all over our town, these new citizens in their newly acquired homes, happy and proud to be loyal to our country and obedient to its laws.

Sunday I saw such a family with their visiting relatives, stroll thru their well kept small garden, and for hours, sit and talk under the shade of their own trees, on a well kept lawn, enjoying the happy privileges of our land of freedom and opportunity. In such families thru schools, home and right church guidance, is become the future loyal citizens of our great republic. If we who were born here, set right examples in our own unselfish loyalty.

Another factor that greatly helps in the adoption of citizens from other lands, the observance, right observance of our national holidays and the singing of patriotic songs. These songs tell their own story and grow into the minds and hearts of those who sing them. By the way, one of the most pleasing experiences I've had in a long time was this.

It was rather early for a young person of my age, to be up, but I was awakened by the voice of singing, and through the open window came the sweet strains of our greatest song "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." Someone out on the steps and if I didn't catch it all I thought "In the Beauty of the Lilies Christ Was Born Beyond the Sea." It was our milk man, and as he went in his clear subdued voice came the brave old song and that young man came from another land than ours, but the spirit of America has taken possession of him.

Right here I am reminded of my old story about the "Three Black Crows." I've told before times. A man, who was sick, was said by his family to have thrown up something black as a crow, and you remember when it got around town, it became one, two three, black crows. So goes the tale of one of our good friends, going to the races. He may have been once or twice, that was his business, but to my certain knowledge, he did not go more and Oh, if the "whiskers" would cease from manufacturing Black Crows.

O, yes, I've heard so many say, He went to the races every day; Neglected his work, Neglected his calling, We all feel shocked, It is so appalling.

The truth, hear, up and down he On errands of kindness, Always intent, A cheering word here, And a helping hand there; O, few were the minutes, He found to spare, To go to the races, Eyes for blenish set out to find, And whoever deplores, Is it my business, And say, is it yours?

Alas, for busy eager spies, Believing untruths, They are still universe, They praise Heaven, Not especially in this class the Chicago Tribune now does such trying to be on both sides of a question, anywhere, or does it build for the dignity and influence of a journal in the minds of thinking people?

Through the fine courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. Fred O. Proctor, their slightly colonial home and attractive grounds at "The Manor" in West Campbell, are to be the scene of a social affair. A bunco, "500" and bridge, other card games, party for the benefit of the Boy Scouts. Mrs. Proctor speaks of this function as a benefit picnic and assures her to her guests that the rooms are spacious enough to accommodate her guest in case the weather should be disagreeable for their games on the lawn. We hope the weather will be as kindly as the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. Proctor for this benefit picnic.

A certain home place, by its dwellers, called "The Lawn" was the storm center of bandit invasion Sunday morning, and the treasure so villainously pilfered, was the slowly ripening fruits of a beautiful mulberry tree, heavily laden. The chief of the robbers were black birds, robins, brown thrushes, sparrows of every name and nation, a few others of our best bird families. Even those of unblemished family name, will become belligerent when they fall so low as to steal and such a fight as went on in that mulberry tree hasn't been staged since Wilson kept us out of war. Almost as thrilling as the late convention at Houston.

Where shall we go?
Where shall we go?
The crowding autos,
They jostle us so.
They race and jam,
On the great highway,
They bruise, they mangle,
They wound and slay.

Where, O where shall the hunted hide,
Crowds bearing down;
On every side;
In frenzied voices,
Loudly they shout,
What are the multitudes,
Clamoring about,
Where do they madly ride?

Someone is crushed,
Someone lies dead;
The noise is unbroken,
Cars rushing ahead,
Clear from the highway,
The bruised and the slain;
Traffic unhindered,
Must speed on again.

Baseball, football,
Rush into the game,
Though one is crippled,
Its sport is the same.
Leaping and diving,
'Tis exercise fine,
Boxing and striving,
Though one breaks . . .

High in the air,
Hearts beat and the roar;
As far into cloud land,
The airplane men soar;
Over the waters over the town
Who counts the d
When airplanes crash down?
Who counts the swimmers,
Who needlessly drown?

Sport is their slogan,
Pleasure their aim;
What if a comrade falls in the game,
Pleasure, amusement,
Swift and sure pursuers,
Are riding today.

Where shall we go?
Where shall we go?
From this hectic
Fleeting phantom show,
For the sake of your foot,
You find no rest,
Yet over all this frenzied rush,
God will yet stay,
To a long, long hush.

Where shall we go?
Where shall we go?
The world is mad chasing,
For pleasure, you know;
And like Noah's dove,
Nor east, nor west,
For the sole of your foot,
Can you find rest.

Hotels Without Beds

Hotels with neither bedrooms nor beds are popular in Italy. Business men or tourists with only daylight stopovers patronize them extensively. The guests are provided with a bathroom and a small sitting room for a low day rate and may find in the hotel a barber shop, writing rooms, restaurant and bar, as well as a cleaning and pressing service, without having to carry the unnecessary expense of a bedroom.

ROAD WIDENING DELAY HURTS TOWN GROWTH

Narrow highway bottleneck motor exits from Chicago not only have slackened automobile traffic but have put the brakes on suburban growth, it was disclosed yesterday in the annual population survey of Chicago and towns made by S. W. Straus & Co. In addition to pointing out that the growth of Chicago suburbs during the last twelve months was only 8 per cent as compared with a larger gain in the previous year, the survey sounds this warning: "Unless the traffic lanes into the city are substantially enlarged within a short period the suburbs cannot be expected to grow at a rate comparable with the increase this year."

Chicago suburbs within a forty mile radius of the loop now have an estimated population as of July 1, of 1,321,000, according to the survey. This is approximately an 8 per cent gain over the population of the same district a year ago, which was estimated to have been 1,223,000.

Close to Five Million Mark
Taking the population of Chicago as 2,500,000, the metropolitan area of America's second city would be 4,822,000. These estimates are based on population figures furnished by public officials or business men, in the respective towns.

Eighty-nine suburbs made report in the survey. It was on the basis of these reports that estimates were made for the total suburban area. The Straus figures for the eighty-nine suburbs reporting were 1,155,000 as of July 1, this year, while the estimated population of the same communities as of July 1, 1927, was 1,066,000.

Comparative figures for some of the eighty-nine suburbs on which actual estimates were obtained for the basis of the complete study of the Chicago area are as follows:

	1928	1927
Arlington Heights	4,909	3,963
Des Plaines	9,500	8,500
Elmhurst	15,000	14,250
Glenview	2,050	1,750
Itasca	600	600
Morton Grove	2,600	2,250
Mount Prospect	1,046	897
Niles	2,750	2,050
Niles Center	5,000	4,500
Northbrook	1,250	1,125
Palatine	2,300	2,200
Roselle	750	700
Schiller Park	840	693
Wheeling	500	428

The Chicago population was estimated on the basis of 3,211,000 residents last year with an added gain of 8 per cent, a percentage which may be taken as conservative for the accepted step in population for the last several years has been 10 per cent.

Lutheran Pastor Gives Report on Synodical Convention Last Week

We are in receipt of the following account of the Lutheran Synodical convention, held at River Forest last week, written by Rev. Lippmann of River Grove.

Returning from the synodical convention at River Forest, your pastor submits the following report: Last year's report shows your synod has 3,297 pastors, 3,642 congregations, 1,086,952 souls, 1,390 Christian day schools with 81,082 scholars, 2,402 Sunday schools with 107,722 children, 1,270 teachers and 513 lady teachers. In addition 382 pastors and 85 students teach school. Last year 33,325 children and 1,611 adults were baptized. Your synod has two seminaries each, for the preparation of pastors and teachers, and eleven colleges in the United States and Canada, a combined college and theological seminary in Argentina, and a Mission Seminary in Nagasaki, India, and Hankow, China—a total of 19 institutions. The value of this property is $10,243,000.00. 180 instructors teach 3,000 students at these colleges and seminaries.

Some of us think of the Synod as though it were a foreign power, made up of ministers, professors, presidents, boards, committees, and other officials, who, from time to time are from some distant headquarters, tell us what to do and when and how to do it, and who at the end of every year want to know what we did and why we did not do better. Often we wonder by what right and authority the synod makes rules and passes them on to the congregations. We feel as though someone has pried into our private affairs when we are asked to make reports. We complain that whenever we hear from synod it usually wants more money. And it always wants more money. We sometimes even think that the "ministers are running the whole thing" over the heads of the congregations and are always asking that money be sent away for "outside purposes" when we really need it more urgently at home. But this is wrong.

Our synod is not made up of officials or of any other individuals, high or low. It consists of congregations, our own congregation and others. Professors and ministers without a congregation have no vote in synodical meetings at all. No resolutions and rules of synod are binding without the consent of the individual congregation. Our synod is not located in some distant land, where laws are made and from which demands are issued. Synod is right at home with us. We are the synod.

The officers whom we have helped to elect, are our servants and do our work for us. They manage our institutions, train our future teachers and ministers, administer our missionary and charitable undertakings and direct the spending of the sums which we raise for the activities of the kingdom of God at large. Really we ought to thank them for all they do. Very few of them are paid by us for the time and service they give. The institutions which are being maintained through synod, under the direction of our officials are really our own institutions. All of them are necessary for the well-being of the church, and of our own congregation.

Synod is really doing us a favor in joining lands with us to get all these important tasks done. What would be our plight if we were left to manage all these affairs without help from other congregations.

The money which synod receives from us does not really disappear in some "outside" undertaking, but goes into our own treasuries and helps to maintain our missions and institutions. Not a dollar is lost. Under the able management of our officials, and those for the time which they do without charge, we are indeed getting more for our dollars than any other institution or corporation on earth. That is the way things really are. What would we do without our synod.

Mt. Prospect Village Board In Busy Session

The first thing on the program for the July meeting of the Mt. Prospect village board was the receiving of bids on a new fire truck. Peter Frisch Sons Co. and the American LaFrance Fire Engine Co. both submitted bids that were held by the village board for further investigation, the fire and water committee is to arrange a time when the board as a whole can see apparatus manufactured by both of these firms. The board also extended the courtesy of allowing both of the representatives of these manufacturers to explain their equipment.

The treasurer's report was next read and so accepted and placed on file.

The $75,000.00 bond of both the village treasurer and village collector were next approved.

The finance committee reported all bills had been audited and signed by the proper committee chairman, and moved the bills be ordered paid.

Another important matter that came up was the passing of a resolution requesting the Northwestern Railroad to keep up with the progress of the village in the way of improvements and asking them to construct a new modern depot.

The public grounds committee had quite a program on and the board was kept busy for quite a while discussing some of the matters. First was the question of the erection of a band stand so the citizens could enjoy a concert given by the local band, which has agreed to play every other Tuesday the first concert to be given next Tuesday evening. Then the question of completing the playgrounds came up and it was decided to build a sand house for the kiddies and the construction is to be on the order of the ones in Hamburg, Germany, the idea being furnished by President William Busse. The committee was also requested to work with the chamber of commerce committee to decide on an appropriate program for the dedication of the playgrounds as soon as everything was in readiness.

Another plat of dedication for the Northwest highway was presented and approved.

The type and style of house numbers was the next question before the board and after considerable discussion it was deemed wise to approve a tile number which has a black figure on a white background and are visible in a dim night.

Elmer Hansen of Roselle
Weds Lydia Mayer In Niles Center Church

Wednesday, June 27, 1928, was an ideal day followed by a pleasant evening. St. Peter's Evangelical church had just been renovated and redecorated at an expense of over $2,000.00 and finished ready for this important occasion. Palms, ferns, and roses decorated the pews for the families of the bride and groom. The doors were opened to welcome the wedding guests, who filled the large handsome auditorium long before 8 p. m.

Rev. Otto Mayer and Mr. Armin Mayer, brothers of the bride acted as ushers, escorting the respective mothers of the bride and groom and other relatives of whom there were about 50, to their reserved seats.

Miss Mildred Tess presided at the organ, Miss Esther Ellerbrake, a cousin of the bride, rendered the beautiful solo "Because," and Miss Irene Tess "Still are die Nacht" in their usual skillful manner.

When the organ started the wedding march, the minister, father of the bride entered from the rear, followed by the groom, Mr. Elmer Hansen, of Roselle, and the best man, his cousin, Mr. Elmer Boethner of Chicago. Then came down the aisle, Miss Evelyn Brown, the maid of honor, followed by the ring bearer, Armin Mayer, Jr., nephew of the bride, and the flower girls, Naomi Zwilling, the groom's niece, and Ruth Thoma, the bride's niece. Then came the bride, Miss Lydia Mayer, led by the eldest brother, Rev. Theodore Mayer, of North Tonawanda, New York, giving away the bride to the groom.

The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. J. J. Mayer.

A reception took place at the parsonage, refreshments were served and the beautiful presents admired.

Mr. and Mrs. Hansen left Thursday evening for their honeymoon trip to Colorado, Yellowstone and Glacier National Parks.

The most of relatives and many friends of well mated and happy couples, wish them all joys of a long and useful life.

Band Concerts At Mount Prospect

The Mt. Prospect Citizens Band which has by resolution of the village board been named the official band of the village will give a series of concerts every other Tuesday evening during the summer months.

Concerts will start at about 8 p. m. and will be held per present arrangements near the municipal playground. The band is under the direction of Mr. Martin Hanz and has at the present about 20 members with more musicians joining the ranks right along.

Mt. Prospect is proud of these boys and feels that they are entitled to the loyal support of every citizen of the village, first because they give freely of their time without pay to get into shape so as to be able to give a real concert for the benefit of the citizens, then they have liberally contributed of their own monies and now they are ready to show the real citizenship spirit in giving these bi-weekly concerts.

To prove that we are loyal to all our enterprises let us get out and show we appreciate their efforts by attending these free band concerts.

When a Man's a Bull

An authority on women's shops complains that the expression, "A man in a gift shop" should supersede the bull in the china shop as a symbol of the inappropriate. Woman's Home Companion.

YE OLDE REPORTER

At a baseball game between two rough teams from the slums, the captain of one side was at the bat. The pitcher let the ball go, and it passed over the plate, a perfect strike.

"One strike," called the umpire.

The batter turned and gave him what is known as a "dirty look."

"Go easy wid dat 'strike' stuff, ump," he growled between his teeth.

Again the pitcher sent over a ball that cut the exact center of the plate.

"Two," called the umpire.

The batter wheeled around, lifted his bat in the air, and posed it over the umpire's head.

"Two what?" he yelled.

"Too high," said the umpire.

Something For Our Future
Presidents to Think About

After the teacher had told her class of boys about the glory and honor attached to the Presidency of the United States, she said:

"Is there any boy in this class who would not want to be president of the United States?"

"I wouldn't, teacher," said one boy.

"Why not?"

"My father says it's best to have a steady job."

An angler went fishing in a district that was new to him, and took his seat on the bank of a little stream, above which rose a high brick wall. It was the wall of the state insane asylum, but he did not know that.

He sat in the hot sun for about three hours, and then heard a voice above him saying:

"Hey, mister, what are you doing there?"

The angler looked up, and saw a man's head above the wall.

"I'm fishing," he said.

"Caught anything?"

"Not yet."

"Got a bite yet?"

No, nary a bite.

"How long have you been fishing mister?"

"About three hours."

"Bout three hours?? Come inside."

Civil Legion Attend Notification Ceremony

Committees of the Civil Legion will officially attend the Notification Ceremonies of both President-elect candidates—Herbert Hoover and Governor Smith.

Both nominees are members of the organization.

The Civil Legion is a strictly non-partisan organization, whose membership is made up of citizens who served the National Cause in authorized Civil capacities during the World War and who, for various reasons, were denied the privilege of wearing the uniform.

Dr. Bruce T. Best of Arlington Heights, Otto Rexness of Des Plaines, Charles A. Bartling of Glenview, C. E. Karstrom of Barrington, Dr. C. H. Warren and Jay W. Butler of Northbrook and George L. Chindahl and A. J. Mouzakiotis of Park Ridge are officers of the State organization of the Civil Legion.

Mementoes of the Past

The burial of pottery and statuary of ancient cities has resulted from various circumstances. In many cases the city has merely decayed from age and collapsed. Destruction by war has been a frequent cause. Natural events, such as earthquakes, volcanic eruptions and storms, etc., have also played an important part.

Soldiers' Memorials

Under act of congress, March 3, 1873, the secretary of war was authorized to furnish suitable head stones for soldiers, sailors and marines buried in national cemeteries. By an act of congress passed in 1875, the order was extended to those who were buried in private village and city cemeteries.

MT. PROSPECT

Alva Waterman is spending a few days with friends in Elgin.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hartwig visited relatives in Mendota on Sunday.

Mrs. Wm. Williams is spending a few days with friends in Detroit, Mich.

Harold and George Lippincott returned last Friday from Quincy, where they attended the funeral of their grandfather.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Budlong and Mr. and Mrs. H. Noll, had a very enjoyable trip to Dubuque, Iowa, and Madison, Wis., on Saturday and Sunday.

At their business meeting last Sunday, St. Paul's Lutheran congregation decided to continue their rain adjourned picnic of two weeks ago, on this coming Sunday. The ladies aid will serve supper. Let's hope the weather will be favorable so this picnic will be a great success.

Due to the recent heavy rains, the excavation for the new Lutheran school by J. H. Gors, has been somewhat handicapped. However, if "Mr. Weatherman" has decided to turn off the rain faucet, Mr. Gors will soon have the foundation laid.

Wm. Busse & Son have a complete line of the newly adopted house numbers on hand in their hardware store and can furnish any combination a resident wishes.

Rainfall was general but Mount Prospect was very fortunate as very few of our people had any serious trouble with the water. Chief Mulso was on hand at all times doing everything possible to clear up the sewer inlet and seeing that the water drained properly into the sewers.

The parkways and islands have been trimmed and now look like a real beautiful piece of work. We are proud of these islands and have an absolute right to be so as many visitors are telling us what a real beauty they are and how much they add to the pleasure of the eye when one enters Mt. Prospect.

CO-OPERATION

Some towns are full of cooperators, other towns are full of non-cooperators. Which class does your town rank in? Which class as an individual do you rank in?

When you sift it all down, a town is really nothing more than the individuals who make it up, if they are broadminded, tolerant, and friendly folks, you are sure to see a prosperous town.

But if they are short sighted, bigoted, narrow minded folks, who have got in a rut, and don't care to get out, then you find a town where poverty rules, you have poor churches, poor schools, poor people and down at the heel, business places.

Now just suppose that everyone in your town should put their shoulders to the wheel and make for a better town, can you imagine what an improvement could be made? Well, you are one, let's see you start the thing along.

POSTPONED PICNIC

Do not forget that on Sunday afternoon the festivities which were spoiled by the rain on June 24 will be resumed and we are in hopes of having a large attendance. The ladies aid will also be on hand and with these hard working folks it is positive we will have some eats on hand.

Many of the items there, will be to attract the attention of the visitors and let it be generally known that we are out to make this postponed picnic a real success. Every body is welcome and we assure all a pleasant time and good weather. This promise is made with the natural proviso that "if it does not rain," which we hope it will not do. You will be ready to attend we know and we again extend a hearty welcome to one and all.

Where Climates Are Alike

England, the United States and Russia have exactly the same climate, says the Popular Science Monthly, but adds that this agreement is to be found only seven miles above the earth. Recording instruments sent aloft on pilotless balloons indicated that the temperature is the same the world over, that is, 70 degrees below zero.

What do you allow yourself to grieve over? Do you indulge yourself in sorrow over what cannot be helped? Are you saddened more by a harsh word from another than by a harsh word you yourself utter? Much success and happiness depend on being sorry for the right things.—Exchange.

Barthelme Film Due at Chicago

Richard Barthelme, the noted film star, has added another historic classic to his recent "The Patent Leather Kid" and "The Noose," in "The Wheel of Chance," the film version of Fannie Hurst's short story, "Route 1," which comes to the Chicago theater Monday, July 9.

The story of "The Wheel of Chance" relates the dramatic adventures of twin brothers, separated in childhood by a truck of fate, and meeting again twenty years later in one of the most dramatically conceived scenes in the history of the motion picture.

Alfred Santell, who also directed "The Patent Leather Kid," has invested "The Wheel of Chance" with excellent production and dramatic values.

Barthelme, as usual, has been surrounded with a superlative cast. Eddie Perry and the Chicago theater stage orchestra will be hosts to the peppy Palux production, "Knick-Knacks" which is the latest presentation to be brought to Chicago theater patrons. A host of dazzling stage stars, and dancers, will furnish highly amusing entertainment, while the orchestra will add to the merriment with the latest hits of the day.

Vitaphone and Movietone Now At McVickers

It is one of the oddities of an ever surprising business that motion pictures have rarely produced a film centering about an artist. "Street Angel," which stars Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, and now in its first week at McVickers theater, with the introduction of the "talking and singing screen," is an exception to the rule, which appears deeply imbedded among the laws and prophecies of the cinema for some inscrutable reason.

"Tribly" with Clara Kimball Young; "Tosca," with Pauline Frederick; "Sapho," with Thomas Meighan and Pauline Frederick in incidental artistic backgrounds, and "The Light and the Dark," which have been countless examples of novelists, playwrights, musicians, composers and practitioners of every kind of art but few wielders of the brush or of the sculptor's chisel.

Mack Sennet for his comedies utilized the painter's studio, in fact, it is through more for laughs, in fact for laughs, in fact for laughs.

Now for once in "Street Angel" the painter comes into his own. Frank Borzage has capitalized the profession of the character impersonated by Charles Farrell by making it relevant to the story. In fact, a painting made by the character in the picture plays an important part in the general unraveling of the entire story in "Street Angel."

Janet Gaynor Comes To Roosevelt In "Talkie" Classic

"Sunrise," the first picture which F. W. Murnau made for William Fox after coming to this country, will play at the Roosevelt theater beginning Saturday, July 7. This picture commanded high attention in New York when it played a long Broadway engagement. Roosevelt theater patrons will enjoy the picture with the same fine musical background which was furnished in New York.

One thing patrons will welcome particularly is that it will bring back to the city in a starring role, Janet Gaynor, the magnetic young star who had the role of Diane in "Seventh Heaven." The other star is George O'Brien, who has steadily risen in the esteem of theatre patrons throughout the country.

The story of "Sunrise" concerns a husband and wife who are happy in their home, but a tragedy strikes and the wife is left alone with a young child. She is a woman from a neighboring city comes to the fishing village. Her curiosity is aroused by the modest property that the man has accumulated and she deliberately sets about to ensnare him, planning to get him to sell his property, leave his wife and go back to the city with her. She has no regard for the wife nor for the man himself. She intends to drop him as soon as she has obtained the money. When she can think of no better way to get rid of the wife she asks the husband to take her out into the middle of the bay and have the boat seem accidentally to tip over so that the wife will be drowned.

Fishing for Sturgeon

The bureau of fisheries says that the sturgeon is caught by snagging. It will not take any bait. Snagging is done with a hook and line. A very heavy line thread is used for the line about one-eighth inch in diameter. The hook should be very stout and from three to four inches in length.

Shakespeare Wrong

Snakes do not sting, though Shakespeare repeatedly speaks of the stinging of serpents and adds, "They bite and the venomous snakes inject poison from a poison gland by means of a fang. Our venomous snakes consist of several kinds of rattlesnakes, the water moccasin and the copperhead."

When a good citizen finds it needful to make an unpleasant communication he picks up his courage in one hand and his hat in the other and goes in person to tell his tale with quietness, decency and dignity. If obliged to write, he does so with restraint and over his name.

There is but one course for the recipient of anonymous letters to pursue: Keep a sample for future reference as a clue, burn the rest, and forget the substance.

Typing is as distinctive and easily traced as handwriting, nowadays, and writers of such letters can be found out. There are penalties none to sweet.

A schoolboy was summoned to a principal's office on some trifling matter of school committee work. He caught sight of a letter on the principal's desk and asked at once, "What has my dad been writing about?"

"Are you sure that is your dad's writing?" asked the principal. "I don't know it anywhere," said the boy. "See the way he makes his M's."

The principal remarked with a smile that the letter was about a small civic matter, and went on with the affair in hand. One very nasty mystery was thus solved. Such an accident might happen to any writer.

Commander Byrd's plane is being tested. In these unsteady days even the South pole is to be stripped of its mystery.

Mr. Godknecht, chairman of the finance committee reported that he had audited the village books as they related to the corporate funds and found the same to be correct.

PALATINE

Miss Dorothy Toynont, a student at Illinois, who is majoring in history, is combining pleasure with study by spending a week with friends at Springfield, where she is visiting various points of historic interest connected with Lincoln and the early days of Illinois. She made the trip by Greyhound, which proved pleasurable.

Walter Hildebrandt is driving a new Pontiac. Wm. Lohse has a new Oakland, both purchased of Wood School.

Miss Esther Deverman was operated upon for appendicitis at the Francis Willard hospital.

Fred Oswald went to Stillwater, Wis., over the week-end where he took off his coat and laid aside his engineering instruments to show a bit of cement for the improvement of his summer place.

Eugene Duncan is on a vacation. Palatine Regulars defeated the Elgin Browns, 15 to 10 last Sunday.

John Kitson and Geo. Wieniecek went on a fishing trip to Lake Zurich Monday. They got back.

Robert Moser is upon a eight day fishing trip in northern Michigan, in the vicinity of Duluth. He is so far north and in such virgin country, a guide is necessary, travel being solely by canoe, which has to be carried at times. We know that Bob will have some good stories to tell when he gets back.

Mr. Hadley, former police officer here, is now employed at Lincoln Fields.

Mrs. Margaret Godknecht, of Wood street, had the misfortune to fall Sunday from a rear porch at the home of her son, Wm. Godknecht and injure her back, necessitating confinement to her bed.

When the new Palatine township high school is dedicated it will be complete in every detail and there will be no last minute rushes. Work has progressed to such a point that the seats and other equipment can be installed and the board will give an order to the supply houses next week to deliver all goods for which contracts have been awarded. The dedication will probably not be held until near the opening of the school year.

Richard Sander, who is building a home on his property in the South Plum Grove avenue, McIntosh subdivision, has rented the lower flat of the H. A. Pohlman brick residence on Wood and Benton street.

Mrs. Sander's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fisher, have come from Toledo, Ohio to reside with them. Palatine welcomes them.

Miss Isabel Wente visited Elizabeth Filbert at Des Plaines last week.

Geo. Minneberger, who recently graduated from Armour, leaves next week for Erie, Pa. where he will start upon his technical career. It is to be greatly regretted that George has had to go so far away from home to follow his line of work. He has been a real asset to the village in many ways, especially musical.

Mrs. Minneberger, who is especially missed in the M. E. church circles, has been entertaining his niece and daughter of Bluffs, Ill. The latter two left Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Schering for Oconomowoc, Wis., where they will visit other relatives.

Mrs. Fred Schering entertained her mother, sister and the latter's son, of Milwaukee, one of the week. It was a family reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Littlejohn over the Fourth. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Hurst, of Jonesboro, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Hosea Sawyer of Chicago.

William Schweitzer left Friday for Kansas, where he is engaged to play a pipe organ.

Mr. and Mrs. Steinbrink and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Perry, spent Wednesday and Thursday at Baraboo, Wis.

Mrs. Sarah Wilson is caring for two hands, which are afflicted with a mixup and gives the picture a "punch" that makes it one of the best vehicles in which Miss Swanson has so far appeared.

The Harding theater will present a gala stage show in honor of the return of Mark Fisher. Mark has gathered a large group of well known entertainers to help celebrate this event. The name of this extravaganza will be "Welcome Home" and what a welcome it promises to be.

Nothing hard when you do it. At least it is rarely as hard as you think it will be. Procrastination throws a heavy shadow—a shadow which shuts out the light and makes every prospect gloomy. Tasks put off come back multiplied. Realizing that life is "one thing after another" and proceeding on that basis to get the thing done quickly clears up the shadows.—Grove Patterson in the Mobile Register.

parsonage this week.

John Stafford returned from a visit at Grand Rapids, Mich., last Friday. He made the return trip by boat from Holland, Mich.

A large number of Palatine people visited at Camp Reinberg last Friday night and enjoyed the program given by the young people of the camp.

John Manz, a student at Armour Institute, and a fraternity brother of George Minneberger, is first assistant to the camp director at Camp Reinberg. John was the Boy Scout selected from the All-Chicago contest to make the trip to Sweden for the International Jamboree four years ago. He lives on Chicago's youth side.

Hugh Aspinwall now studio director of Radio station WBBM, in the Kimball Building, Chicago, was visiting old friends Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Aspinwall and family accompanied him to Palatine.

Mrs. Plate underwent an operation recently for the removal of tonsils.

It was a wholesale mixup of cars on Chicago avenue, in front of the Henning garage the other day. J. H. Phillips, driving a Star, took the wheel of a Whippet car, sideswiped at the Haemker and Herbig Funk. The Whippets were not so lucky. The owner of the latter settled all damages, giving his car as part payment.

The old pumping station is no more. Mr. Haemker has completed a new work of wrecking the structure. There is nothing in the way of constructing the new building except a suitable plan which we understand has finally been approved.

Quiet Weddings Mark End of June

Three Palatine young people were married last week-end, before the departure of June, the month of weddings. All of the events were quiet affairs.

Miss Selma Nagatz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nagatz, was united in marriage by Rev. Poellot to Mr. Earl W. Klepper, of Libertyville Saturday afternoon at five o'clock. Their ceremony was very simple, the only guests being the parents of the contracting parties and the attendants. The latter were Miss Grace Hagelberg, of Chicago; Miss Esther Nagatz, sister of the bride and Miss Edla Klepper, as bridesmaid. The ushers were Thomas McIver, Ernest Heiden and Theodore Helffer.

The bride was attired in pale blue Georgette and carried brides' roses. Miss Hagelberg was dressed in orchid, carrying sweet peas of the same color; Miss Selma Nagatz, in pale green and Miss Klepper in peach color.

The bridal couple left soon after the ceremony for Chicago. They will spend their vacation honeymoon visiting relatives and friends.

Mr. Klepper is employed by Henry Wieniecek in his store at Winnetka, which will be their future home. The bride is a Palatine girl who has lived here all of her life and is employed at the Ravenswood offices of the Northwestern railroad. Both have the warmest congratulations of many friends.

MORRIS-JAMES

Mr. George Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Morris, and Miss Mary Hampton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. James, of Chicago, were united in marriage at that city Friday, June 29. Owing to the illness of Miss Edith Morris and the quarantine of that home, little of the wedding details is known in Palatine. In fact, the wedding was a surprise to all except the family. The bride and groom are spending their honeymoon in Champaign and will return to Palatine, where they will make their home at the Morris residence when the quarantine is lifted.

The bride is a former teacher at Dist. 14 and made her home with the Morris family at that time. The groom is employed at Prospect. Congratulations to both.

Unusual Movies at Arlington Theatre Saturday Evening

"How would you like to see kilns hotter than a volcano and large enough to drive your car through, or scale that can measure even the weight of a pencil mark on paper?" asks Mr. Schneberger of the Arlington Elevator & Coal Co.

Not content with these puzzling questions, Mr. Schneberger goes on with some more posers. "What would you think of a building produced so finely ground that it would go through a sieve that itself is actually fine enough to hold water?" he asks, "or of testing equipment that separates this product into particles so fine that 10 million of them—laid closely in rows—would be needed to cover a single square inch?"

"Yet these are but a few of the unusual sights Arlington Heights people will see in a movie soon to be exhibited here," Mr. Schneberger reports. "Mountains of limestone blown up by explosives that dislodge a hundred thousand tons at a time, giant steam shovels that pick up pieces of rock as large as pianos, grinders that greedily crush stone to small bits, revolving mills containing 20 tons of steel balls that pulverize it to finer than flour and fine enough to go through a sieve that will hold water, sacks tied before they are filled—these and many other spectacular things will all be seen in the film, 'The Story of Portland Cement,' just released and shortly to be shown here."

A nationally known film company spent weeks "shooting" the scenes for this unusual movie. Through the courtesy of Mr. Schneberger, Arlington Heights people will see it without extra charge, with the regular features Saturday evening, July 7th. All persons, old and young, will enjoy the showing in Arlington theatre at 7 to 11 p. m.

The evening of July 7th, 1928.

Stafford Preaches Stirring Sermon

"Give the Church a chance," was the plea of the Rev. John Paul Stafford in his sermon at the Palatine Methodist church Sunday morning. "It is unfair," he said, "to misjudge the church as many men do. For example, consider the man who confuses the medieval church with the church of modern times. You hear men talk as if the church has made no progress since the days of witchcraft. The modern church is not the church of the middle ages. To some people this is news, apparently. They attack the church for faults that the church possessed five hundred years ago, in common with the science, medicine, and legal knowledge of that day, forgetting if they ever knew, that in five centuries the theology of the church has been reformed, along with reorganized ethics.

"Other folks treat the church as non-essential. Personally that injustice cuts more deeply than any other. To be ignored as of no particular significance is hard to bear. And it is unfair to the church. We found out during the World War days that the governments best ally in securing cooperation from the people was the church. The President and the Secretary of the Treasury leaned heavily upon the ministers then. And in peace time the church is still an organization of significance. If any politician wants to commit suicide let it be by nominating a candidate who doesn't believe in God and says so. And the church is always the biggest force for righteousness in the community. It is unfair to treat the church as something you can take or leave it alone.

"Give the church a chance by putting it into the foreground of your thought. Put it in the center of your hope and prayer. Give it the equipment it ought to have and then see it work. Don't stand aloof and give it absent treatment, and expect it to do its best work. Give the church the best you have, not what you have no other use for. Don't put in a penny's worth of enthusiasm and expect a dollar's worth of results. Give the church a modern equipment if you expect a twentieth century program. Give the church a chance at you, and at the whole community. Build largely in your plans for it and it will prove its blessedness to you and yours."

Hear the Voice of the Church—"I am Calling You."

"I am the best friend of mankind. To the man who prizes sanity, peacefulness, pure-mindedness, social standing and longevity, I am a necessity.

I am hung about with sweet memories—memories of brides, memories of mothers, memories of boys and girls, memories of the aged as they grope their way down to the shadows.

I am decked with loving tears, crowned with loving hands and hearts.

In the minds of the greatest on earth I find a constant dwelling place.

I live in the lives of the young and in the dreams of the old.

I safeguard man, with a friendly hand to the man in fine linen and to the man in homespun.

I am the essence of good fellowship, friendliness and love.

I give gifts that gold cannot buy, nor kings take away. They are given freely to all who ask.

I bring back the freshness of life, the eagerness, the spirit of youth, which feels it has something to live for ahead.

I meet you with outstretched arms and with songs of gladness. Some time—some day, some hour in the near or far future, you will yearn for the touch of my friendly hand.
